

University of North Carolina Online

A presentation of the progress made in the development of the University of North Carolina Online. We will address several aspects of the online initiative:

- A review of the recent changes to the core web site
- A review of the programs available
- A brief demonstration of the interinstitutional online registration tool
- A demonstration of the information available to the campuses regarding student inquiries
- A demonstration of some sample course content
- A review of data about access to the site
- Data on online learning
- Next steps for the University of North Carolina Online