SBIR mandates that federal agencies with more than $100 million in extramural R&amp;D are required to allocate a percentage of their budgets exclusively for small businesses. This set-aside began in 1983 at 0.2% and is currently 2.5% resulting in the availability of approximately $1.6 billion in fiscal year 2001 to R&amp;D small businesses. The SBIR program provides many funding opportunities for start-up companies that are spun out of university technology transfer programs.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>North Carolina Small Business and Technology Development Center (SBTDC) located on the campus of NC State University benefits from SBIR funding.</li> <li>Morphormics Inc. Federal agencies with more than $1 billion of extramural R&amp;D must reserve 0.3% of their budgets for R&amp;D small businesses and their partners. This set-aside currently results in the availability of approximately $65 million for fiscal year 2001. *STTR is similar to SBIR program. Its unique feature is its requirement that the small business work jointly with a non-profit research institution. A minimum of 40% of the work must be performed by the small business and a minimum of 30% by the non-profit research institution. Such institutions include Federally-funded research and development centers (FFRDCs), universities, university affiliated hospitals, and other non-profits.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>North Carolina Small Business and Technology Development Center (SBTDC) is located on the campus of NC State University benefits from STTR funding.</li> <li>All of the UNC campuses are eligible to participate in the STTR program.</li> </ul>
