

Special Obligation Bond Maturity Date Modification – The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

The Board of Governors is authorized to issue special obligation bonds for capital improvements projects that have been approved by the General Assembly. Although a specific source of funding is used by a campus when retiring these bonds, special obligation bonds are generally payable from all campus revenues excluding tuition, State appropriations, and restricted reserves.

In 2012, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill requested that the Board issue special obligation bonds for the purpose of acquiring improvements to Kenan Stadium that were made through a lease agreement between the Educational Foundation, Inc. and the State of North Carolina. The debt was to be repaid with revenues specific to the project including private gifts and donations and premium seat revenues. The project was previously approved by the Board of Governors and the North Carolina General Assembly and the lease agreement was approved by the UNC-CH Board of Trustees, the Board of Governors, and the North Carolina Council of State. The 2012 Bond was issued as a privately placed bond to the Educational Foundation with a maturity date that coincided with the maturity date of the line of credit the Educational Foundation has through BB&T in August of 2016. The financing plan has been that at the time of the expiration of the line of credit with BB&T, the Special Obligation Bond would be in effect and would equal the amount outstanding on the BB&T line of credit.

BB&T has approached the Educational Foundation about extending the current line of credit by ten years. The original line of credit was underwritten based on the support of the university in the form of a purchase agreement and the special obligation bond. In order to allow for the extension of the line of credit, UNC-CH needs to extend the maturity of the special obligation bond. They request that it be extended by 27 years from the current maturity date in 2016, which will equal a 30-year term from the original issuance of the bond in 2012. The bond would be for an amount not to exceed $30 million which equals the current amount outstanding on the BB&T line of credit.

UNC-CH is currently rated Aaa by Moody's Investor Service. The modification of the maturity date on this special obligation bond will have no impact on their credit rating.

It is recommended that the President of the University, or his designee, be authorized to modify the maturity date on the special obligation bond.
