Re: NCSSM Board of Trustees and Educational Advisory Council Vacancies

Dear Mr. Corgnati:

This is an unusual year for our school boards because it seems that we have a large number of upcoming vacancies. Both our NCSSM Board of Trustees (BOT) and our Educational Advisory Council (EAC) have been strong and active groups and have worked well with us to advance our school. Members of these boards and leaders here at NCSSM have worked with me to provide the Board of Governors the attached list to consider for appointment to fill our vacancies.

Regarding proposed appointments to the BOT, Robert Slade is a native of Northampton County and has distinguished himself as a school administrator and pastor. For the past two years, Mr. Slade has been part of our EAC, has faithfully attended meetings, and is well positioned to be a strong contributor on our BOT. Jose D'Arruda has also served on our EAC. Dr. D'Arruda of Pembroke University brings a strong academic background, is a veteran of the university system, and is widely recognized for his contributions to science education. David Wornoff as newspaper publisher and part owner of The Pilot would bring strong business and public relations skills to our BOT. William Ives of Brevard has made significant contributions as a former state legislator, and he continues to be deeply involved in the western part of our state. Stephanie Lanier of Kinston brings a wealth of experience as a former school counselor and adjunct professor at East Carolina. We do not have all the background information assembled for our proposed candidate for District 5. Under consideration is a candidate with strong business skills and connections throughout our state. He will be visiting our school on Tuesday, May 3rd and has asked to hold his name until after his visit with us. I look forward to confirming a nomination for District 5 shortly after that visit. I am impressed and humbled that these fine persons have agreed to have their names considered for appointment to the NCSSM BOT.

Regarding proposed appointments to the EAC, James H. Johnson of the Kenan-Flagler Business School has an impressive background in teaching and research. He has worked with our school in our ethics and leadership conferences. He has made important contributions nationwide to discourse on equity and economics. Helen LeGette, whose term will end in June on our BOT, has graciously agreed, if appointed, to continue her service to NCSSM as a member of the EAC. Dr. LeGette has over forty years in education leadership and is past Associate Superintendent for the Burlington Schools.

Thank you for working with us on the appointment process. Please call me if I can provide any further information.

Sincerely,

Gerald L. Boarman, Ed. D

David Woronoff
Publisher and Part Owner of The Pilot
210 S Valley Rd
Southern Pines, NC 28387-5731
(910) 692-4473
david@thepilot.com

David Woronoff, 39, became publisher of The Pilot newspaper in Southern Pines, N.C. on July 1, 1996. At that time, David was the youngest newspaper publisher in the state. The Pilot now publishes three times a week with a paid circulation of 15,400 and was named the best community newspaper in the nation in 2002 by the Inland Press Association.

David lives in Moore County with his wife of 13 years, Fredanel, and their two daughters, Jenna (10) and Freddie (8). The couple moved to the Sandhills from Charlotte, where David served as the director of business development for Business North Carolina, a monthly magazine with a circulation of 26,000.

Prior to moving to Charlotte, David did reporting stints at the Anniston (Al.) Star and the Greenville (SC) News. His newspaper career began at The News & Observer where he worked for two years as a district sales manager in the circulation department.

David graduated high school from Woodberry Forest School, a prep school in Orange, VA. He holds a BA in English from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he also completed the business schools' Young Executives Institute sequence.

David served on the board of the North Carolina Press Association for three years, as the Professional Development Committee's chairman for five years and currently serves as the Association's Legislative Committee chairman.

David serves on the board of directors for North Carolina Citizens for Business and Industry, FirstHealth of the Carolinas finance committee, the Boys & Girls Club (vice chair), the Episcopal Day School, and Moore County Partners in Progress. During his tenure in Southern Pines, David has served as the board chairman for the Sandhills Area Chamber of Commerce, the board and campaign chairman for the United Way of Moore County, and as vice chairman of the board for FirstHealth Moore Regional Hospital.

Current occupation:

Property investor:

- owns numerous residential rentals in the Brevard area and leases land to Keystone Camp, Inc. for its summer camp operation

General Contracting:

- holds general contracting license, an electrical license and a plumbing license

Non-profit support:

- uses these licenses to aid non-profit organizations in accomplishing renovations to buildings and houses.

Political experience:

- Chairman Transylvania Board of Equalization and Review 1999 -2005
- Member North Carolina House of Representatives from 1993 until 1998, voluntarily retiring in 1998. For the last four of his six years, chaired the Sub-committee on General Government. That Committee makes recommendations to the full committee on nearly all parts of the state budget except Justice and Education.
- Sponsored significant statewide legislation:
 - In 1993 introduced the first legislation to regulate tattooing, which passed in 1994
 - In 1995, sponsored and later saw to the passage of a bill to define the responsibility of horse owners. This clarified the liability of those who owned or worked with horses.
 - In 1997, sponsored a bill to require the Building Code Council to publish codes for each building profession that would not be changed for three (3) years. This greatly relived the anguish in the building trades caused by frequent code changes making it extremely difficult for builders and inspectors to stay on top of new regulations.

- 1972-1976: elected to the Transylvania County Board of Commissioners and served as board chairman all 4 years. Re-elected to this Board in 1980, again serving as chairman from 1980-1984. During this time many improvements were made in county government operation:
 - Found space to convert into an office, installed a telephone so that citizens could call for information and or help, hired a full time clerk to serve the Commissioners and the public.
 - Remodeled and improved an old school building to house most of the county government rather than rent space in many buildings around the city.
 - Renovated the old post office to provide a new and larger library.
 - Opened and operated the first county operated landfill.

Education:

Attended public schools in Jacksonville, Florida.

Graduate: University of Florida (1954), BA, Political Science

Community involvement:

- Currently vice chairman of the six year old Transylvania Endowment, which has raised almost $500,000. It is affiliated with the Community Foundation of Western North Carolina. It provides support for non-profit organizations seeking assistance in making Transylvania a better place to live.
- Member of the Transylvania Library Foundation Board of Directors - new county library to open in late September. The Foundation led a successful fund raising drive for $2,500,000. This is 1/3 of the $7,500,000 cost of the completed library.
- Member of Transylvania Vocational Services Board for over twenty-five years and served as chairman for many of those years. This is the sheltered workshop for Transylvania and also provides vocational services training for the county.
- Member of the Transylvania Physicians Services Board.
- Member vestry of St. Philip's Church and was junior warden 1971-73.

Andrew "Flip" Filipowski is one of the world's most successful high-tech entrepreneurs, philanthropists, and industry visionaries. Named one of the 100 most influential individuals in the technology field as recognized by Upside magazine, who named him to its 2000 Upside Elite 100 list. He built one of the top 10 global software companies in record time and now devotes all of his expertise, thought leadership and entrepreneurial talent to the development of all of the companies in the SilkRoad Family.

During his career, Filipowski has started and built tremendously successful technology companies. Prior to founding SilkRoad he founded divine, inc. in 1999 and served as its CEO until May, 2003.

Flip founded PLATINUM technology, Inc. in 1987 and amassed one of the most valuable technology and service offerings in the software industry. PLATINUM became one of the most recognized entrepreneurial success stories, growing from a startup to the eighth-largest software enterprise in the world, reaching $1 billion in revenue before its sale to Computer Associates International, Inc. in 1999 for nearly $4 billion, the largest acquisition of a software company at the time.

In 1979, Flip founded DBMS, Inc., and served as its president and chief executive officer from 1979 until March of 1987. During this period, DBMS, Inc. grew from a startup to a major international software enterprise with revenues of $25 million. DBMS, Inc. ranked in the Inc. Magazine 500 list of the fastest-growing privately held companies in the United States.

From May 1974 to March 1979, Flip served as executive vice president, COO, and in other executive capacities with Cullinet Software, Inc., the largest software company of that era, credited with pioneering many software business innovations. Before Cullinet, Flip served in various managerial and technical positions with A.B. Dick, Motorola, and Time, Inc.

Flip founded PLATINUM Venture Partners in 1992 and funded a number of successful Internet and technology ventures including Whitman-Hart, an information technology consulting enterprise; StarMedia, a Latin American online network; Yesmail, an Internet marketing services provider; Blue Rhino, a retailer and innovator in propane distribution; and LiquidAudio, a provider of software uniting music and technology.

As an advocate of humanitarian and Internet-related issues, Flip is often recognized as a mentor, leader and lecturer in the community. In addition to supporting a variety of charitable organizations, Flip is the Founder and Chairman of two not for profit foundations, the PLATINUM Wildlife Foundation, which is dedicated to the protection and preservation of endangered species, and the Filipowski Foundation.

FLip is one of North Carolina's most successful businessmen. HE sold his company in Chicago for over a $Billion . He is a huge catch for the School...
