

Angela Miles (Reappointment)

Dr. Angela Miles is an associate professor and department chair of business administration at North Carolina Central University. Dr. Miles' professional experience includes financial planning and analysis, marketing operations, risk management and insurance, human resource and budgetary management, and educational instruction in global telecommunication, consumer product, banking, and academic industries. Before working at NC Central University, Dr. Miles had faculty appointments at North Carolina A&T State University, Old Dominion University, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and Florida State University. In the private sector, Dr. Miles held roles at Nortel, Ford, and Bank of America.

Arwin Smallwood (Appointment)

Dr. Arwin Smallwood is a professor and the chair of the Department of History and Political Science at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University. Effective June 1, 2024, Dr. Smallwood will begin a new role as dean of the College of Arts, Social Sciences, and Humanities at North Carolina Central University. Dr. Smallwood received his BA in political science and MA in history from North Carolina Central University. Dr. Smallwood has taught as a visiting lecturer at North Carolina A&T State University, then director of African American studies at Bradley University. Dr. Smallwood then joined the department of history at the University of Memphis, where he helped build its Ph.D. program in African American history. Dr. Smallwood became chair of the Department of History at North Carolina A&T State University. From June 2022 to August 2023, he served as the interim vice provost for undergraduate education. Dr. Smallwood has served on several boards including the board of directors for the Charlotte Hawkins Brown Museum, the advisory board for the North Carolina Historical Markers Commission, the Z. Smith Reynolds art grant review board, and the scholars advisory board for the Gilder Lehrman Institute.

Randall Styers (Reappointment)

Dr. Randall Styers is an associate professor in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Dr. Styers currently serves as the treasurer and member of the board of directors of the American Academy of Religion. From 2016 to 2019, he served as chair of the Council on Graduate Studies in Religion. Before joining the UNC-Chapel Hill faculty in 2001, he worked as an attorney in Los Angeles and New York, and taught philosophy of religion for four years on the theology faculty at Union Theological Seminary in New York, where he also served for a period as acting academic dean.