University & Medical Center Institutional Review Board

The primary function of the University and Medical Center Institutional Review Board (UMCIRB) is to protect the rights and welfare of human subjects engaged in research at East Carolina University, The Brody School of Medicine, Vidant Medical Center and its affiliates, and in research conducted elsewhere by faculty, students, staff or other representatives of the University in connection with their responsibilities. This mission is accomplished by an institutional commitment to education and establishment of a collaborative relationship with the researchers and key support staff.

Mission Statement
To protect and enhance the reputation of Principal Investigators (PIs) and the University to facilitate the growth of sponsored activities. OGC has dual functions: (1) To provide services and support to faculty researchers and campus academic, research, and business units and (2) To monitor and ensure appropriate stewardship of fiscal resources and compliance with University procedures, sponsor regulations and policies, and state and federal audit guidelines. To support this mission, we embrace the core values of Education, Quality, Integrity, Service, Collegality, Responsibility, and Accountability.
