6. Engagement with Legislators During the Interim.....James Holmes, Chair

Situation: Committee Chair James Holmes will initiate a discussion on strategies for staff and committee members to engage with legislators in the interim between the short legislative session and the long legislative session convening in January 2015.

Background: The North Carolina General Assembly is expected to adjourn the short session soon. This period between the conclusion of the short session and the beginning of the next long legislative session provides an opportunity to meet with legislators both in Raleigh and in their home districts to discuss with them issues relevant to the UNC system and hear their feedback.

Assessment: N/A

Action: This is for discussion only.
