

CNS UPDATES 9-30-31

COURSE REVIEW PROCESS

Michelle Soler has sent a reminder to campuses regarding the impending deadline for course review (October 15th). We need everyone's first cut/first draft on the spreadsheet to be able to determine bi-directional possibilities for each UNC CNS number. Because many departments need more time to ensure all courses are included on the spreadsheet, we have rescheduled the disciplinary meetings tentatively scheduled to start next week, until the first couple weeks of November. See the updated schedule here.

OPERATIONS MANUAL

A draft copy of the Operations Manual should be circulating around your campus now. Campus feedback is due October 15th. Please encourage those who will be working closely with the CNS implementation to review and provide feedback. The official/clean copy of the document will be available by mid-November.

IT

IT is working closely with the CNS team to design the public facing site. This will contain the searchable database for CNS courses. Focus groups will be held in late October to get feedback from students and advisors about the requirements and design of the public facing site.

TRANSFER CONTACT LIST

Campus Points of Contact (POC's) have been asked to provide contact information for faculty/staff on their campuses who work closely with incoming and current transfer students. As we move further along in the implementation process, these faculty/staff members will be vitally important in the communication of the UNC CNS on their campuses and as key advisors to students.
